

BOICHUK, Josephine A.

September 2, 1934 – January 26, 2017

Josephine Boichuk was called home by her Lord Jesus Christ at age 82. She was born in Fort St. John and raised in Cecil Lake until the family moved to Fort St. John so she could finish high school. She lived her entire life in the North Peace.

She began teaching in 1957 at Nupoint School near Rose Prairie. She taught for many years at Central Elementary and then at Duncan Cran Elementary until retirement after 31 years of teaching.

Josephine was a great pianist and played for many years for church services. She also sang solos at church. Her former students will remember the fun songs she taught them while gathered around the piano in school.

Josephine loved to travel making trips through most of Europe and also Mexico, Florida, California and Hawaii. She and her mother made many trips to Saskatchewan so her mother could visit relatives.

Josephine's door was always open for visitors, of which she had many.

She was predeceased by her father and mother and is survived by her sister Evelyn (Ron) Mawhinney and brother Irvin (Cheryl) Boichuk as well as a niece, two nephews, grandnieces and grandnephew.

There was no funeral or memorial by request.
